

Xinyue Bei

Duke University
Department of Economics
213 Social Science, 419 Chapel Drive
Durham, NC 27705

Phone: (919) 699-0928
Email: xinyue.bei@duke.edu
Homepage: <https://xinyuebei-econ.github.io/>

Education

Ph.D. Economics, Duke University, 2024 (Expected).

M.S. Economics and Finance, CEMFI (Center for Monetary and Financial Studies), 2018

B.A. Accounting, Nankai University, 2016.

Research Interests

Econometrics, Applied Microeconomics

Publications

“Local Linearization Based Subvector Inference in Moment Inequality Models” (2023) Forthcoming at Journal of Econometrics.

“Normal but skewed?”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. (2022) Journal of Applied Econometrics.

Working Papers

“Inference on Union Bounds with Applications to DiD, RDD, Bunching, and Structural Counterfactuals” (2023) Job Market Paper.

“Score-type Tests for Normal Mixtures”, with Dante Amengual, Marine Carrasco, and Enrique Sentana. (2022) First Revision Resubmitted to Journal of Econometrics.

“Hypothesis Tests with a Repeatedly Singular Information Matrix”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. (2023)

“Highly Irregular Serial Correlation Tests”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. (2023) First Revision Resubmitted to Econometrics and Statistics.

Work in Progress

“Score-type Tests for Dynamic Mixtures and Regime Switching”, with Dante Amengual, Marine Carrasco, and Enrique Sentana.

Presentations

2023: Triangle Econometrics Conference (UNC, Chapel Hill), University of Montreal (scheduled)

2022: Econometrics PhD Conference (Erasmus University Rotterdam), CEMFI Econometrics Workshop

Research Experience

Duke University, Research Assistant for Adam Rosen, 09/2020-present

CEMFI, Research Assistant for Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana, 08/2017-10/2017

Teaching Experience

Instructor, Statistical foundations of econometrics and data science (Undergrad core), 2021 Summer

TA for Matt Masten and Andrew Patton, Econometrics II (Ph.D. core), 2020 Spring

TA for Federico Bugni, Econometrics I (Ph.D. core), 2019 Fall

Grader for Allan Collard-Wexler and Adam Rosen, Partial Identification, 2020 Fall, 2023 Spring

Grader for Adam Rosen, Econometrics III, 2022 Fall, 2023 Fall

Referee Service

Journal of Econometrics, Journal of Business & Economic Statistics, Journal of Econometric Methods

Scholarships and Awards

2022 Duke Conference Travel Award

2018, 2019 Duke Graduate School Fellowship

2017 CEMFI Scholarship

2015 Zhou Enlai Scholarship (Highest Honor of Nankai University)

2015, 2013 First Class Scholarship of Nankai University

2014 National Scholarship

Languages and Skills

English (fluent), Mandarin (native), MatLab, R, Mathematica

References

Adam Rosen (Chair)

Professor of Economics

Duke University

adam.rosen@duke.edu

Federico Bugni

Professor of Economics

Northwestern University

federico.bugni@northwestern.edu

Matt Masten

Associate Professor of Economics

Duke University

matt.masten@duke.edu

Enrique Sentana

Professor of Economics

CEMFI

sentana@cemfi.es