

Xinyue Bei

Duke University
Department of Economics
213 Social Science, 419 Chapel Drive
Durham, NC 27705

Phone: (919) 699-0928
Email: xinyue.bei@duke.edu
Homepage: <https://xinyuebei-econ.github.io/>

Education

Ph.D. Economics, Duke University, 2024 (Expected).

M.S. Economics and Finance, CEMFI (Center for Monetary and Financial Studies), 2018

B.A. Accounting, Nankai University, 2016.

Publications

“Normal but skewed?”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. Journal of Applied Econometrics (2022).

Working Papers

“Local Linearization Based Subvector Inference in Moment Inequality Models” Revise and Resubmit at Journal of Econometrics.

“Score-type Tests for Normal Mixtures”, with Dante Amengual, Marine Carrasco, and Enrique Sentana. Revision requested at Journal of Econometrics.

“Hypothesis Tests with a Repeatedly Singular Information Matrix”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. Submitted.

“Highly Irregular Serial Correlation Tests”, with Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana. Submitted.

Research Experience

Duke University, Graduate Assistant for Adam Rosen, 09/2020-present

CEMFI, Research Assistant for Dante Amengual and Enrique Sentana, 08/2017-10/2017

Teaching Experience

Instructor, Statistical foundations of econometrics and data science (Undergrad core), 2021 Summer

TA to Matthew Masten and Andrew Patton, Econometrics II (Ph.D. core), 2020 Spring

TA to Federico Bugni, Econometrics I (Ph.D. core), 2019 Fall

Referee Service

Journal of Econometrics, Journal of Business & Economic Statistics, Journal of Econometric Methods

Scholarships and Awards

2018, 2019 Duke Fellowship

2017 CEMFI Scholarship

2015 Zhou Enlai Scholarship (Highest Honor of Nankai University)

2015, 2013 First Class Scholarship of Nankai

2014 National Scholarship

Languages

English (fluent), Mandarin (native)

Last updated: June 30, 2023
<https://xinyuebei-econ.github.io/>